TOLERANCE

The Character Education Program uses positive reinforcement to teach students lifelong character lessons regarding values and morals which are integrated into the school's curriculum. Each month students focus on a particular character trait. Stories, role-playing and writing activities expand the students' understanding of that month's trait. At the first school assembly of each month, one child per class is selected by his or her teacher to be recognized for their ability to best demonstrate the character trait of the month. Students who have received these distinctions have their photo and award displayed in the hallway.
